

eternal resting place in the Protestant Cemetery at the Happy Valley, where he was interred with Protestant rites. Now, so far as I am aware the whole of this may be, at least superficially, true, but when Father Burghignoli takes upon himself to assert that I am professedly a Roman Catholic he goes beyond the scope of his knowledge—and does not speak the truth.

The facts, so far as I am acquainted with them, are very simple. My brother died without letting me know his last wishes, and the Reverend Padre who administered to him the rites of the Roman Catholic Church, never even took the trouble to send me a note informing me of that fact. But Mother Church was good enough to allow me to bury my brother, and I buried him where I liked—as I am not in the habit of studying the wishes or tastes of the emissaries of the Pope of Rome, or anybody else, in anything appertaining to my conscience.

I am not professedly a Roman Catholic, nor am I in the least concerned in the mummeries, trumperies, and tomfooleries over which Father Burghignoli so unworthily presides in this colony. So much for my professions of faith.

I am, Sir,

Yours truly,

H. HART-MILNER.

Hongkong, 21st May, 1889.

[We are certain that our readers of every religious denomination will sympathise with Professor Hart-Milner in the position he has been placed in by the uncalculated and ignorant aspersions of Father Burghignoli. If this reverend priest were not an old and decrepit man, and we had not such a great respect for the sanctity of the law, we should probably have felt disposed to recommend tarring and feathering the worthy pro-vicar apostolic and dipping him in the muddy waters of the Pok-tu-lam Reservoir.—Ed. Hongkong Telegraph.]

BRITISH NORTH BORNEO.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Sandakan, 8th May, 1889.

Admiral Sir Nowell Salmon arrived here in H.M.S. Albatross on the 28th ult., and left the following day for Labuan en route for Batavia. On landing the Admiral was received with the usual salute and guard of honour.

The O. S. S. Co. steamer Rajah arrived from Kudat on the 28th ult., and reports that some 160 runaway Chinese and Javanese coolies were embarked by her at Gaya for Kudat. These men had abandoned principally from the estate of the London Borneo Company, Limited, of which Count Gellios d'Elive is the local manager. The planters in Kudat complain that the Government of North Borneo but little to assist them, but it must not be lost sight of that there may be faults on the side of planters, some of whom have no experience of Chinese.

The public are loud in their complaints against the Government, who entirely fail to do their duty in the way of making roads and drains and neglect all proper sanitary arrangements. It is considered that whilst the latest innovations in increasing taxation are adopted a few improvements in sanitary arrangements and such like expenditure might well be indulged in. It is thought that the Revenue is being saved to pension some more unruly Pangerans on the West Coast, where, I hear, more troubles are brewing.

A "Durbar" is to be held on the Queen's birthday, but that auspicious occasion falling during the Ramadan, the Mahomedan fasting month, it is considered that but few chiefs will present themselves. Elaborate arrangements are to be made in the shape of fireworks and for the supply of "lemnades" regardless of expense. It is to be hoped we shall not have a new tax imposed to pay for this affair, and it is a wonder how such a time could have been fixed upon.

After considerable delay $5,000 tribute or cession money was forwarded by the China Borneo Co. steamer Normanharst to Sulu, all in Borneo cent pieces, which no doubt be a source of amusement to His Highness and his court to count out.

Captain R. D. Burton, late commandant of the British North Borneo Police, has been nominated Police Magistrate at Sandakan, an appointment which has given general satisfaction.

A "Camp of exercise" is to be held shortly on Abai plain. Our noble army of Sikh agriculturists, scare-crows, etc., will no doubt make a fine show and thoroughly frighten and overawe the naked natives in the neighbourhood.

We are also to have a gunboat, and what with an army and navy, Sarawak, Great Britain, Padas Darul, and such like small deer had better "look out."

For cool and unsudied humor command me to the presence of the Darvel Bay Trading Company, in which I find that "Captain A. H. Rothbart (the manager) has for a number of years resided near the property and is familiar with the country and the people etc., etc."

The fact of the matter is, that this Captain Rothbart has in command of a barque called the F. H. Drews (lately lost) and in that capacity loaded three or four cargoes of timber for Chinese and other charterers. He has never lived near to the property than Sandakan (on board his barque) 20 hours steam from Sulu or Darvel Bay) which he visited but in his life and a few days only. He has neither any knowledge of the natives of Borneo nor can he speak their language.

MILKE COAL MINES.

Serious trouble, says the Hyogo News, is reported to have again occurred at the Milke coal mines among the prisoners employed there—in fact, almost a repetition of the events that took place a few years ago, when the desperate convicts fired the mine, and numbers of them perished miserably. A vernacular paper, the Chinkiang Times, gives particulars of the latest outbreak, and makes possible an inference that excessive severity had something to do with it—at least, the paper states that the prisoners complained of the long hours they were compelled to work in the mine, and also accused the prison officials of positive cruelty. Early last March about 200 convicts were transferred from the Tokyo and Miyagi gaols to Milke, where a large number of men sentenced to penal servitude are employed under contract made by the Government with the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha in working the mines leased to that Company. There are over 1,000 prisoners at the mines, and disputes, ending in a serious affair, occurred between the new arrivals, and the older residents of the penal establishment. The available force of warders does not appear to have been sufficiently numerous to cope effectively with the rioters, who made repeated attempts to escape, and all work ceased for three days. Then a strong body of constables reinforced the warders, and with their assistance order was quickly restored. The Chinkiang mentions, and the circumstance is significant, that there is a daily average of 1700 convicts sent out of the 1700 at Milke, and remarks that there may be some special reason for this abnormal unhealthiness. And the same paper considers the transfer of 500 additional convicts to the mines not unconnected with the assertion that the labour imposed hitherto upon the prisoners has been excessive. Anyhow there is little doubt the matter will be properly investigated and the truth made known, because the authorities are, very properly, jealous of the reputation gained of late years by Japan for the maintenance of a humane system of prison administration.

WAS IT A DREAM.

Under the above heading the following amusing remarks from a correspondent, dated Ching-chow, May 1st, are published in the N. C. Daily News:

Of course to you in Shanghai, where such important British interests are at stake, it is all quite a matter of course, but to us in this out-of-the-way part of China a visit from the British Representative is of so much consequence, that I cannot help hoping you may find room in the crowded pages of your journal for a brief account of it. Of course we always knew the English Minister must first carry out his expressed intention on arrival of visiting Corea and the Yangtze ports. There were vexed questions of Imperial interest to be settled in both directions. And we could not hope to be first attended to. Still there were many reasons why we wished for a visit from His Excellency. The usual story—a missionary had rented a house for a chapel, and the man who rented it to him had been thrown into prison. Without being sentimental either about the poor Chinaman, or the insult to our own nationality, we none of us felt quite comfortable helping the poor missionaries to establish themselves nicely, whilst the owner of the house was in that wretched den that serves as a prison here. Then the J's ad that a property, and there was a little difficulty about their boundaries. It ought to have been settled quite easily but our poor dear Consul came out to China a long while ago. And he is easily upset and nervous. And after the Chinese had twice during the night pulled down the wall the J's had begun to build, our Consul just took to his bed, or at all events his bedroom, with a sick headache whenever the subject was mentioned.

He said "Let us talk of pleasant things. In the world not full enough of misery, that we must always be hanging on, any little unpleasantness," and then he would retire. One of our troubles is we have nowhere to walk off our troubles here. If we could only build a nice little bungalow like that they have got now in Ningpo we often think we all should be happy. But for that united action is necessary, and an application to the Chinese. And that our Consul deprecates. He always says: "Why apply to the Chinese? Why worry? Do we not pain them sufficiently by our presence?"

That is such a strange light in which to look at the matter, we none of us know what to say. It is true we have started a little hospital here, and free schools, and a dispensary, and the place was poverty-stricken in the extreme when we came to it, and is now doing nicely. We circulate a good deal of money in it between us, and all the carpenters and bricklayers and masons in the place seem to be employed by the European community. But I am not sure that our presence does not pain them for all that. They always use rough words to us, when we walk out, and sometimes we are stoned. And there are several parts we never think of going into for fear of what may happen to us. And one of the missionaries was badly beaten about the head in his own house only the other day, and Miss Y— was spat upon by a very well dressed Chinaman too. It does not look as if they liked us. But that also is a painful subject. So let us pass on! What I wanted to tell you about was how the British Minister arrived on his biennial tour of inspection.

He came in grand style in a gunboat, and with quite a retinue with him. "But if he had been the servant of the people, paid to look after their interests, he could not have gone more carefully into all the subjects that were perplexing us. At his request the Consul at once communicated with the Magistrate about the J's wall and a Tipao was sent to look at it, and to examine the title-deeds, and he at once said they were quite in the right, only if they chose there was a little corner they were leaving out they might enclose. But Mr. J— said he did not care to do so, because it was a convenience to the poor women, being near a pool when they wanted to wash their clothes. So then the Tipao made the people a speech, and told them how generous and considerate Mr. J. was, and rebuked them most severely for their previous disorderly behaviour, and told them that they should all be sent to prison if anything of the kind occurred again.

Then it turned out that the poor landlord was released from prison the very day His Excellency arrived, and a handsome present made him as compensation. So there was no need to say anything about that. And since then there has been nothing but a continuous exchange of civilities, such a hurrying backwards and forwards of sedan chairs, all the executioners of the place out in their hideous red conical hats, and the soldiers and title-bearers all about all day long. His Excellency, without any one pointing it out to him, noticed our want of a band, and said how easily we could combine together to make it. The Chinese authorities were quite pleased at the suggestion, and the Prefect even sent two handsome trees to be planted at the beginning of it as a memorial of His Excellency's visit. We had quite a gala day on the occasion of turning the first sod, as it were, and after that His Excellency went away to make another port happy by a minute personal inspection of its needs. No one is more pleased than our poor dear Consul himself, who is like a different man now, and who is already full of His Excellency's next visit, saying we must do this, or that, or the British Minister will be disappointed on his return. But I have forgotten the best thing. None of us has heard an unkind word, since the British Minister arrived in state in an English gunboat, nor has a stone been thrown anywhere near a European. We all feel so different, and as if we belonged to a nation of which we were proud, and that cared for us.

CHINKIANG.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CHINKIANG, 15th May, 1889.

The settlement of the Foreign claims resulting from the late riot was completed to-day. Her Majesty's Consul handed over to claimants as follows:

Various bank orders in Shanghai Tsia, payable to bearer, half the amount claimed; the balance in two instalments, viz, payable on the 11th August and 7th November; interest bearing at the rate of 10 per cent.

The Commission has accepted and adjusted many of the claims in a very satisfactory manner, and all the small claims were paid in full and on demand.

The first cricket match of the season was played on the ground of the Chinkiang Cricket Club yesterday. A team from H.M.S. Swift assembled to give battle with the willow against the Chinkiang eleven. The ground was in beautiful order, and just sufficient sunshine to gladden the heart of the cricketers and others present. The local team lost by five wickets. The disaster may be attributed to the absence of two "cracks" who have left the port lately for fresh fields and pastures new. Refreshments were provided and liberally dispensed by the local club, and all spent a very pleasant afternoon.—Shanghai

CANTON.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

Canton, 20th May, 1889.

The Viceroy leaves to-day in the Kwang-hup for the West River to personally inspect the embankments in the districts which are threatened by floods owing to recent rains and the early summer freshets. His Excellency is expected to be absent about a week. It is somewhat venturesome taking so large a vessel as the new Foochow-built cruiser on the West River as she draws some twelve feet of water even although the river has risen so considerably.

The continued heavy rains up country are causing very serious concern in regard to the Spring rice crop; the price of rice has gone up 2 cents a picul within the last 48 hours and there is every prospect of it going much higher unless there is a cessation in the rainfall. The Chinese say that the rain does not suffer so much from the rain during the day, but that the unusual phenomenon of continual heavy rain during the night at this season creates alarm.

His Excellency the Viceroy, in studying the inundation problem in this vicinity, will do well to consider how far the same is the result of the blocking up of the "Back Reach," one of the great natural outlets of this river to the sea.

ICHANG.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

6th May, 1889.

On Thursday the 2nd we were calculating that our beautiful sandy esplanade in the river bed was at least 200 yards wide. Next morning the river had risen 5 feet and all our sands were gone! No more dry walking there in the intervals of rain! No more smellless snoring in the twilight after a day too hot to stir out! No more chatting two or three abreast! Henceforth we must pick our way in single file among snails and dogs and shouting children. The rain continues raining, the river rising, and the thermometer is very low, not rising to 60 degrees even in the house. Now is the season for orchids to come down from Szechuan, and a junk laden with baskets full of Dendrobium Nobile, all in full butterfly blossom, was a fine sight the other day. They were being taken down river to be sold as medicine. Boats in mid-stream seem to shoot down river now, whilst mid-river junks are towed almost under our windows.

The Ichang Convention makes definitely no progress, although the Chinese deputies remain on, complaining woefully of the dullness of the place, and always wondering why the British Minister could not settle the Upper Yangtze regulations at Peking; whether he does or does not approve of those they have submitted as the Szechuan Viceroy's ultimatum; and if not, whether he is taking any steps to get them altered at head quarters, as they, poor deputies, are powerless to alter one iota, and are simply eating their heads off here, waiting for the Consul's answer, whilst he waits for the Minister's.—N. C. Daily News.

The barometer has fallen slightly and gradients are very gentle for the south-east wind. Overcast, and rather cool and damp weather prevails.
 Barometer reduced to level of the sea in inches, tenths and hundredths. Temperature in shade 14 degrees, Fahrenheit. Humidity in percentage of saturation.
 The quantity of air saturated with moisture being 100, the direction of the wind to two points. Force of the wind according to Beaufort's scale. State of the sky according to the following description: 0, Clear; 1, Partly Cloudy; 2, B, Cloudy; 3, Drizzle; 4, Fog; 5, Fog; 6, Fog; 7, Fog; 8, Fog; 9, Fog; 10, Fog; 11, Fog; 12, Fog; 13, Fog; 14, Fog;
